A second book signing will take place at Archway Gallery on Valentine's Day Saturday, February 14th from Noon to 2PM. The perfect gift for mom, the mother of your kids, for your children or grand-kids, nothing says Love You Forever like a signed copy of the book by the same title. The exhibition features original art and Giclee prints of illustrations by Sheila McGraw from published children's books, including bestsellers: Giclee prints from the bestseller Love You Forever (more than twenty-seven million books in print), original art and Giclee prints from I Promise I'll Find You, Pussycats Everywhere, original art from Indie books Where the Lost Things Go and Snuffy and Vroom Vroom, original art from out-of-print books Lightning Bug Thunder, My Mother's Hands, and My Father's Hands.

The artwork from a favorite children's book isn't just for kids' rooms. With the wide-ranging subjects of a books' art and their easy-to-place scale, illustrative art belongs in any room or space. For the first time, many of these original artworks will be shown and offered to collectors. Included is the art in its entirety from several books, as well as individual pieces. A variety of media are utilized, including, oil pastel on board, Prismacolor pencil, pastel, and marker on acid-free 100% rag paper, and acrylic on linen. Most pieces are framed.

McGraw delves into an author's words and their concept, and distills them into form and color onto the page, all the while considering and helping the author fine-tune their manuscript for visual cues, pacing, grammar, continuity and composition. The art is then created in a medium that connects the art to the story.

Sheila McGraw was born in Toronto, Canada, and she moved to Houston TX in 2006. Her career has encompassed many facets of commercial and fine art. She started her career as an in-demand illustrator creating art for packaging, national advertising, fashion and editorial illustration. In 1986 her career segued into illustrating and/or writing children's picture and craft books, including many bestsellers. She has also written several how-to books for adults. She continues to accept commissions for children's book illustrations, and currently paints still lifes, portraits, and street scenes of Houston, in oils, on canvas and linen.

She is a member of The Portrait Society of America, The National Oil and Acrylic Painters' Society, and The Art League of Houston.
